BEATEN IN STATE HOSPITAL?

GRAND JURY URGED TO LOOK INTO WENDORFF'S DEATH.

Coroner's Inquest in Case of Tallor Who Died on Ward's Island—Autopsy Showed That His Ribs Had Been Broken—Doctor Witnesses Baited.

After hearing the evidence regarding the death of Abraham Wendorff, a tailor, of 146 East 108th street, in the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane on Ward's Island on May 1, a Coroner's jury brought in a verdict yesterday recommending that the case be thoroughly investigated by the Grand Jury.

Wendorff was taken to Bellevue on April 10 by a policeman who had caught him just as he was about to throw himself into the East River. He was suffering from paresis and was sent to Ward's Island, where he died. An autopsy showed that eight of his ribs had been fractured, that both of his eyes had been blackened and that there were many cuts and bruises upon his body.

Dr. Haviland of the Manhattan Hospital testified that he stripped and examined Wendorff when he was admitted to the hospital. He said that there were many bruises upon the man's body.

"Did you notice that his ribs were broken?" asked Frederick House, who appeared for the Wendorff family.

"No," responded the physician.

"If they had been fractured at the time, would your examination have disclosed the fact?"

"I think so," said Dr. Haviland.

Dr. John R. Knapp, the physician at the hospital, who attended Wendorff, stated that the patient was very violent and must have injured himself.

"Persons suffering from paresis," he said, "have very brittle bones. It takes very little pressure to break them."

He then told how, on the night before his death Wendorff had leaped from his cot, sprang a post of ironwork railing, and then fallen to the floor, overturning a flower pot as he did so, overturning him in the face, causing a slight wound under one of his eyes.

Dr. Knapp said that he had examined Wendorff on his arrival at the hospital.

"It is possible that his ribs were fractured then, but escaped my notice," he said.

"Was it necessary to use force to quiet the patient when he became violent?" asked the lawyer.

"Not always," said Dr. Knapp. "I would sometimes give him a sedative when he seemed on the verge of one of his bad spells."

"When you grew tired of him, did you give him a sedative from the 'Black Bottle'?"

THIEF MADE HIMSELF AT HOME.

Entered Brooklyn House to Write a Note and Took $1,000 Worth of Jewels.

The Brooklyn police have sent out a general alarm for a man described as about 33 years old, short, slender, of dark complexion, hair and mustache, and wearing a blue suit.

About 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning the man "wanted" called at the home of Henry Joseph, 127 Park place, shortly after Mr. Joseph had started for business in Manhattan and Mrs. Joseph had gone downtown with her children.

The visitor, representing himself as the agent of a department store, asked the servant girl to accommodate him with writing materials, so that he could leave a business note for Mrs. Joseph.

Never suspecting him, she showed him to the parlor, he coolly hanging his hat on the rack as he passed through the hallway. The servant left him in the back parlor, after handing him pen, ink and paper. In about five minutes he took his departure, after explaining to the servant, who awaited him at the hall door, that he had left a note for her mistress.

When Mrs. Joseph returned in the afternoon, she found that the bureau drawer in her room on the second floor had been forced open and nearly $1,000 worth of her jewelry carried off. This was the note which the robber left behind him:

DEAR MADAM: I called in reference to the Japanese pistol left at your house, but as you were not at home I have instructed my maid to give you this note when you return.

GIRL MISSING NEARLY A MONTH. Police Asked to Help in the Search for Mary Aschenbrenner.

Mary Aschenbrenner, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Louis Aschenbrenner, 631 Metropolitan avenue, Williamsburg, disappeared nearly a month ago, and yesterday the police of the Herbert street station were asked to assist in a search. The parents of the girl believe that she was lured to leave her home by a young woman, who, it is said, promised her a gay life in the metropolis.

Popular Raincoats For Men

We have a very handsome collection of Cravenette Raincoats for men, at prices ranging from $15 to $35; but we have found that the preference goes to the two particular styles told of below:

First is the $15 raincoat of dark Oxford mixed worsted cravenette by Priestley & Co. The coats are made with broad shoulders and graceful hanging backs in the handsomest manner. The length is fifty-two inches. It is the best all-round Fall overcoat that we know of at the price.

The other variety, which is even more popular than the $15 coat, is the $25 raincoat, made of genuine imported Priestley Cravenette; the shoulders and sleeves lined with silk. They are coats such as your custom tailor would probably make you at double the price. These have finely tailored shoulders, fit and hang perfectly, and are thoroughly made at every point. The price is $25.

Today We Present Our Largest and Best Offering Of USED PIANOS And Angelus Piano Players

Since the beginning of our great success with these periodical sales of used Pianos, all of which come into our hands through legitimate channels, there have been constant offerings of this kind, which would make it seem that every month of the year was full of opportunities of this kind.

Those who are familiar with the WANAMAKER custom, know that there are only three or four of these sales during the year, and that they are simply the result of the natural accumulation of Pianos taken in exchange for our fine new instruments.

In the character of the instruments offered during one of these sales, no other movement of the kind approaches it.

Our lack of storage space, as well as our desire to hurry away quickly these instruments, that we take to accommodate the purchasers of our new pianos, rather than for profit to ourselves, make us mark these at extremely low prices.

In addition to the pianos that are strictly second-hand, the collection includes a large number of instruments that have been rented a few months, which, after being tuned and otherwise fixed up in our repair shops, are practically new. We also include in this lot some sample instruments on our floor which are not in perfect condition.

The present offering is one of the very finest and largest we have ever presented. By actual count there are two hundred and seventeen instruments offered tomorrow, of which one hundred and thirty-one are Grand, Upright and Square Pianos; seventy-five are Angelus Piano Players, which were earlier models, which have been gone over at the factory, and brought as nearly up to date as the cases will allow, and are now offered at just one-half the regular price.

The last group is a collection of eleven organs, of which eight are from the celebrated Mason & Hamlin Factory. This is one of the best offerings of Mason & Hamlin Organs that has been made in recent years.

This splendid collection of goods will be on sale when the store opens this morning. Those who are the most prompt will naturally get such selection as has never been known in under-price pianos before. However, the collection is so great that the sale will probably continue several days.

Any of these instruments may be bought on the easy payment plan—a small cash payment, and easy monthly payments afterward.

Early Readiness in Women's GOWNS and WRAPS

These crisp early days of September have brought in the goods much more rapidly than in past seasons. A month ago, those who read the signs told us that we were to have an early Fall. This time their predictions have been true, and women universally are anxiously seeking Autumn apparel.

Our Costume floor is already as full as it were the middle of the season.

More than a month ago the manufacturers had our advice as to what we wanted for the new season. We told them just how the new sleeves were to be made; we told them the proper lengths for the coats; the correct finish and cut for the skirts; and today Paris verifies our early information. The manufacturers thank us for so truly forecasting the trend of style.

Today we have ready a comprehensive display of Coats and Wraps. The chief novelty in fabrics is the Crushed Plush, which is shown in so many different and beautiful effects. It is seen in carriage and evening wraps, in blouse and three-quarter length coats, ranging in price from $60 to $135.

A beautiful group of evening wraps is composed of the white and pastel shades in smooth cloths. They are in three-quarter and seven-eighths lengths, and many are most exquisitely trimmed. The prices range from $53 to $200.

Another distinguished group is composed of black cloth and silk coats, elegant, yet most practical. They are priced from $65 to $225.

The Dresses in today's showing are entirely American made, but every touch and trimming speaks of Paris. Many of the fabrics and trimmings are such as can only be found abroad, and are imported especially for making these gowns.

The most beautiful group is composed of striking gowns of crepe de chine, lace, chiffon, velvet, taffeta, voiles and plain cloths. They show trimmings of lace, taffeta silks, and chenille. They present all varieties of the new sleeve, high girdles, and full skirts. Prices range from $48 to $300.

Smart Walking Suits compose another important group. They are made of tweeds, chevots, broadcloths, camel's-hair and shark-skin fabrics. They are made with blouse, tight-fitting or three-quarter length tourist coats. The skirts are gored and plaited. The prices range from $16 to $60.

There is a superb collection of dress skirts made of crepe de chine, taffeta silk, broadcloth, sharkskin, and chevot. Some are lined with silk, and others are unlined. The prices range from $6 to $30.

The Walking Skirts are in almost unlimited variety, made of canvas weave chevot, sharkskin, broadcloth and tweeds. The prices are from $6 to $13.50.
